

WORKING TOGETHER TO TACKLE
Child Sexual Abuse

What is Child Sexual Abuse?

It involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening.

“The activities may involve:

PHYSICAL CONTACT

includes assault by penetration (for example, rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing and touching outside of clothing.

NON-CONTACT ACTIVITIES such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse (including via the internet).

“Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children.”

(HM Government, 2015)

Research from the Children's Commissioner in 2015 suggests that nationally there were 425,000 victims of Child Sexual Abuse in the United Kingdom between 2012 and 2014.

In 2011, The NSPCC published research that revealed 11% of 18 – 24 year olds had reported they were victims of contact sexual abuse at some point during their childhood.

The same research indicates that over 90% of sexually abused children were abused by someone they knew.

Children with Disabilities are three times more likely to be the victims of sexual abuse (Sullivan and Knutson 2000).

At the last census there were 167,714 children up to the age of 18 living in Norfolk.

It happens to boys, girls and children of all ages from all communities. Most of these children don't tell anyone or will not get any help until they are adults.

Two-thirds of cases of sexual abuse happen within the direct family and it can be really difficult to tell someone about this kind of abuse.

Younger children might not understand that what's happening to them is abuse or that it's wrong. Older children might be worried they won't be believed or scared about what will happen if they tell.

Therefore it is really important that adults spot the signs of sexual abuse so it can be stopped.

Whether you work with children or are a parent, the following information has been put together to help you:

- prevent children being sexually abused,
- recognise the signs when sexual abuse might be happening, and
- stop child sexual abuse.

It also provides links to resources and support for those affected by child sexual abuse.

WHEN CHILDREN AREN'T HELPED, THE CONSEQUENCES OF THE ABUSE CAN BE LONG-TERM AND SEVERE, INCLUDING THE INABILITY TO BUILD HEALTHY RELATIONSHIPS, POOR MENTAL HEALTH AND PHYSICAL ILLNESS.

Prevention

We need to keep children safe from abuse before it happens

TALK PANTS

When children get older, it is normal for them to be inquisitive about sex. Sometimes children use the internet to find out information but this can lead to them accidentally accessing online porn which is damaging to them. This information can help you talk to children about porn.

YOU MIGHT BE WORRIED IF ANOTHER PERSON:

refuses to allow your child sufficient privacy or to make their own decisions on personal matters displays physical affection such as kissing, hugging or wrestling even when the child clearly does not want it takes too much interest in the sexual development of your child or teenager wants time alone with your child with no interruptions wants to spend most of their spare time with your child or has little interest in spending time with people their own age regularly offers to babysit the children for free or take children on overnight outings alone buys your children expensive gifts or gives them money for no apparent reason frequently walks in on your children or teenagers in the bathroom treats a particular child as a favourite, making them feel 'special'

Children who are sexually abused may...

STAY AWAY FROM CERTAIN PEOPLE

- they might avoid being alone with people, such as family members or friends
- they could seem frightened of a person or reluctant to socialise with them.

HAVE PHYSICAL SYMPTOMS

- anal or vaginal soreness
- an unusual discharge
- sexually transmitted infection (STI)
- pregnancy.

SHOW SEXUAL BEHAVIOUR THAT'S INAPPROPRIATE FOR THEIR AGE

This is classed as Harmful Sexual Behaviour, more on page 15.

Children With Disabilities

What makes children with disabilities more vulnerable to abuse?

1

Wider circle of carers

2

May not understand they are being abused

3

Dependence leading to reluctance to disclose adverse circumstances

4

Low self-worth leading to desire to please

5

The child may not be deemed as a credible witness

6

Often living away from family & supportive network

7

Abusive practices may go unrecognised

8

Less able to express that sexual abuse is taking place

9

Limited communication skills

10

The impact of disability on attachment and therefore a parent's ability to protect

11

Disabled children more likely to be compliant

12

Abusers perceive a lower chance of their actions being detected

13

Often require intimate care

14

Abusers more likely to justify actions to themselves

15

Practitioners speak with adults around the child rather than to the child

Issues to consider:

SIMILAR SYMPTOMS

Expect to see similar symptoms as with other children

RELUCTANCE

Reluctance to challenge carers – especially if an alternate placement is hard to find

UNDERSTANDING

It can be harder to understand

MORE RESOURCES

More time, expertise and effort may be required to gather information from a disabled child

MINDFUL

Be mindful of parents and carers speaking on behalf of the child

SUBTLETY

Signs and symptoms can be more subtle

PROFESSIONALS

Consider the views of professionals who have an in depth knowledge of the child's situation

OTHER FACTORS

There are more possible explanations for signs and symptoms

ASSISTANCE

Consider assistance of such professionals when building rapport with a child

COMPLEXITIES

Signs and symptoms can be harder to untangle - especially with communication differences

Children With Disabilities

Harmful Sexual Behaviour

CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE WHO DEVELOP HARMFUL SEXUAL BEHAVIOUR HAVE OFTEN EXPERIENCED ABUSE AND NEGLECT THEMSELVES.

Children and young people who develop harmful sexual behaviour harm themselves and others.

Sexual behaviour between children is also considered harmful if one of the children is much older – particularly if there is more than two years' difference in age or if one of the children is pre-pubescent and the other isn't (Davies, 2012).

However, a younger child can abuse an older child, particularly if they have power over them – for example, if the older child is disabled (Rich, 2011).

A study by Hackett et al (2013) of children and young people with harmful sexual behaviour suggests that two-thirds had experienced some kind of abuse or trauma such as physical abuse, emotional abuse, sexual abuse, severe neglect, parental rejection, family breakdown, domestic violence, and parental drug and alcohol abuse. Around half of them had experienced sexual abuse.

Brook Sexual Behaviours Traffic Light Tool

THIS IS A TOOL TO HELP YOU IDENTIFY HARMFUL SEXUAL BEHAVIOUR AND BEHAVIOURS THAT ARE NORMAL IN RELATION TO THE CHILD'S AGE.

By identifying sexual behaviours as GREEN, AMBER or RED, professionals across different agencies can work to the same criteria when making decisions and protect children and young people with a unified approach.

This tool lists examples of presenting sexual behaviours within four age categories.

All green, amber and red behaviours require some form of attention and response, but the type of intervention will vary according to the behaviour.

Training to use the Brook Traffic Light tool can be accessed via the Brook website: <https://www.brook.org.uk/training/wider-professional-training/sexual-behaviours-traffic-light-tool/>

AGE 0-5

AGE 5-9

AGE 9-13

AGE 13-17

Green behaviours reflect safe and healthy sexual development.

Amber behaviours have the potential to be outside of safe and healthy behaviour.

Red behaviours are outside of safe and healthy behaviour.

We teach our children to share...

But does your child know the risks of sharing online?

The be #ShareAware campaign aims to help you if you are worried about your child:

- taking and sharing inappropriate pictures
- sharing personal information
- looking at porn online
- being bullied online
- bullying others online
- spending too much time online

Grooming

GROOMING IS WHEN SOMEONE BUILDS AN EMOTIONAL CONNECTION WITH A CHILD TO GAIN THEIR TRUST FOR THE PURPOSES OF SEXUAL ABUSE OR EXPLOITATION.

Children and young people can be groomed online or in the real world, by a stranger or by someone they know.

Groomers may be male or female. They could be any age.

Many children and young people don't understand that they have been groomed, or that what has happened is abuse.

Groomers will hide their true intentions and may spend a long time gaining a child's trust.

They may also try to gain the trust of the whole family so they can be alone with the child.

Groomers do this by:

- pretending to be someone they are not, for example saying they are the same age online
- offering advice or understanding
- buying gifts
- giving the child attention
- using their professional position or reputation
- taking them on trips, outings or holidays.

The NSPCC have launched a 'Be Share Aware' campaign working with Norfolk Constabulary to educate parents on how to talk about what's OK, and not OK, to share online. Find out more: <https://www.nspcc.org.uk/preventing-abuse/keeping-children-safe/share-aware/>

Online Grooming

A groomer may:

Use social media sites, instant messaging, dating apps or online gaming platforms

Spend a long time learning a child's interests from online profiles

Hide their identity online

Groomers may look for:

User names or comments that are flirtatious and/or may have a sexual meaning

Public comments that suggest a child has low self-esteem or is vulnerable

Groomers no longer need to meet children in real life to abuse them. Increasingly, groomers are sexually exploiting their victims by persuading them to take part in online sexual activity.

CHILD ABUSE.
IF YOU THINK IT, REPORT IT.

gov.uk/tacklechildabuse

If you're worried that a child or young person is being sexually abused:

You must talk to a safeguarding lead within your organisation or phone the Multi-Agency Safeguarding Hub (MASH) for a consultation. For more information see the Norfolk Threshold Guide: www.norfolkscb.org

If the child is at risk of significant harm, do not delay in phoning the MASH on: 0344 800 8020. If it's an emergency situation then call the police on 999

If you or another adult wants to talk about being sexually abused during childhood

Call the police on 101 or in an emergency on 999. If you are not ready to talk to the police contact the Harbour Centre (see below)

The Harbour Centre is a Sexual Assault Referral Centre (SARC) which provides a range of services for people who are victims of rape, attempted rape or assault by penetration. It aims to empower victims by allowing them to report their abuse and undergo medical examinations without prompting a police investigation.

From January 2015 the centre also officially opened its doors to children aged under 13 who are in need of round-the-clock help as well as support from a dedicated Child Advocate.
